

July 2015

The children at the Rio Bravo Activity Center had a busy month full of fun and educational activities to help with the summer heat.

On July 4th, there was a patriotic celebration including games and hamburgers for all the kids.

A trip to the Market Splash Park was a favorite for many of the children, and was a great opportunity to cool off during the canicula.

The US Border Patrol South Sector visited for a field day to teach us about the many roles agents play, and organized outdoor obstacles with water guns and water balloons.

This was a great way for the members of the center to interact and learn from the agents that protect our border.

Staff at the Rio Bravo Activity Center would like to thank Border Patrol for this wonderful event. We would also like to express our gratitude to Commissioner Frank Sciaraffa for his unwavering support of all center events.
